

My Political Concerns

- My education has progressed systematically from school to the university level while the constitution making process and the local elections are yet to be completed.
- Those born in 1997 are now eligible to vote and yet the issue of local elections is limited to the political parties' manifestos and written agreements. (We have not had local elections since 1997)
- Those who do not pay taxes on time are penalized. Despite your incompetence in promulgating the constitution as you were entrusted to do by your voters, you walk around with your heads held high.
- I have grown up to be a responsible individual, but our dear leaders, you have used transition as an excuse to neglect development and public services.
